

The Riddick Recap

Boulder to Budapest!

10.15.2022

Dear friends and family,

I am so excited to announce that I will be leaving for Budapest, HU on November 2nd and arriving on November 3rd! There is a duality of emotions in my heart now with looking forward to all of the experiences I will have in Hungary and looking back at all of the experiences and people that I am leaving behind in the US. With a leave date on the calendar, I have been learning a lot about what it means to say goodbye well. So far, it's looked like a bunch of random activities and adventures with the people I love and making "bedroom-photo-wall-quality" memories!

In the last couple of months of support raising and getting to know my team, I have learned more about what these next 26 months are going to look like for me. I will primarily be working with high school students! There are about 45 students in our community and only a handful of them are believers. In the high school ministry, the current team is seeing that handful of believers start to step out as leaders as they graduate to university. I am beyond excited to enter in this season of those students' lives and in this season of The Hungary Navigators!

This is my teammate Sab (short for Sabrina) and I at the end of our first training. We are so excited to be working together for the next two years, strengthening and encouraging one another, and having a lot of fun!

Prayer Requests:

- Please join me in praying for the hearts of the students in Hungary now that I will be ministering to.
- Navigating through my health conditions in another context.
- Smooth transition into Hungarian culture.

Áldás! (Blessings!),
Sarah Jane
